MINOR ITEMS KEEP COUNCIL IN SESSION

Discuss Township Fire Pact. Change In South Broadway Bus Stop

City council went through a series of minor items Tuesday night at council chambers in city hall. No major items were given consideration.

Service Director C. E. Phillips was instructed by council to proceed with re-negotiation of the contract between the city and Perry township trustees for fire protection.

Phillips explained to council that he and Fire Chief Vincent Malloy felt that the reimbursement to the city for annual protection was insufficient due to increased costs of operation of the fire department.

He said he believed a fair arrangement could be worked out with the township trustees. He is to report at a later meeting on the proposed new agreement.

Reports On City Hall

Chairman Fred Koendich of the city hall committee reported that the city hall plans are in the hands of the planning commission for their final approval.

Safety Committee Chairman George Chappell reported that his committee recommends that all bus loading zones be shifted to a section on the east side of S. Broadway, just south of State st.

His committee and safety department officials have studied the project with the bus company. The report was accepted and proper legislation will be drawn up.

A request for city action to repair a sidewalk running along the property on the northwest corner of Perry st. and S. Lincoln ave. was referred to the streets, alleys and sidewalks committee. Mrs. Robert Kernohan asked action in a letter to council.

Councilman Michael Schuller asked that attention be given the West End park land agreement so that the city could proceed with improvements there similar to those carried out at Centennial park in recent years. The matter is in the hands of the city engineers, awaiting an agreement and survey.

Request Studied
Councilman Carl Abe, chairman of the streets, alleys and sidewalk committee, reported that his committee has not completed its study of a vacation request on the first alley west of S. Lincoln.

See Major Changes Forthcoming Before Arms Program Okay

By WILLIAM E. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—(AP)—Some major alterations appeared in store today for the arms-to-Europe bill.

The house foreign affairs committee called a closed-door huddle to hear from two men who are supposed to know all the details of the $1,450,000,000 program to help Atlantic pact and other nations erect a wall of weapons against Soviet aggression.

The witnesses are Maj. Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer of the Army and Dr. Lloyd V. Berkner of the State department. Committee sources described them as "the men who helped draft this plan and know all the answers."

FINISH BREAK OF MONOPOLIES

Gen. MacArthur's Argued
Program Done; Big Jap
Holdings Divided

TOKYO, Aug. 3—(AP)—General MacArthur's controversial program for breaking up Japan's economic giants ended today. The allied occupation commander said it was "accomplished effectively."

Eleven big corporations were tagged for deconcentration by a five-man review board which came here from Washington 15 months ago to make recommendations on 325 firms listed as "excessive concentrations." The board recommended divestment of certain holdings for nine others.

The 325 companies were selected for board action out of about 1,200 which had been affiliated with the Zaibatsu holding companies. Through this powerful setup, headquarters said, "a small number of families exercised all-pervasive control over the industry, commerce and finance of Japan."

Hot Debate

From its beginning, the deconcentration program was a matter of hot international and domestic debate. In the United States as well as Japan some called it "socialization." Others criticized it as "fragmentation of industry."

Some observers in Japan have called the program a success. Others have labelled it a failure. The final result of the board's work is this:

"Eleven enterprises were recommended for structural reorganization, three were required to dispose of specified plants or stock holdings, two were referred to the fair trade commission with specific recommendations regarding their trade practices, two were recommended for complete reorganization through industry-wide action, one was required to divest itself of governmental prerogatives."

Ex-Convict Wants To Go Back, But Not Yet

TOLEDO, Aug. 3—(AP)—An ex-convict picked up yesterday by Toledo police for routine questioning wants to go back to prison—but not just yet.

Inside a pocket of Charles A. Rutledge's trousers, police found this note: "My name is Charles A. Rutledge. They call me Walking Charlie. I served two years at Angola, La., and my number is 33289. Should I be found dead, please ship my remains to the penitentiary."

Woman's $150,000 Estate Is Unclaimed

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3—A $150,000 estate of a 70-year-old Cleveland Heights woman who died last year is still unclaimed. Administrator John F. Fuerst said yesterday.

No relatives of Mrs. Mae G. Haas, who died April 27, 1948 have been found.

The money will be turned over to anyone who can prove blood relationship to Mrs. Haas, no matter how distant, Fuerst said. If no one can be found with this qualification, the estate will go to the State of Ohio.

Masked Bandits Rob Aga Khan's Wife In France

NICE, France, Aug. 3—(UP)—Masked bandits ambushed the Aga Khan, one of the richest men in the world, in his car outside his fabulous Riviera villa today and stripped an estimated $600,000 worth of jewels from the hands and clothes of his wife.

The robbery of the wife of Aga Khan, spiritual leader of 12,000,000 Ismaili Moslems and father-in-law of Rita Hayworth, came just 24 hours after masked bandits stole $600,000 worth of jewels from a shop at Deauville which is on the Atlantic coast more than 500 miles across France from Nice.

Police said the 74-year-old Aga Khan and his beautiful French-born wife, the Begum, had just left their villa near here to join Rita and her husband, Prince Aly Khan, at Deauville when their car was ambushed.

The four masked bandits were waiting by the roadside in a fast French Falcon car with a Paris registration plate. After the Aga Khan's car passed them, the bandits shot up its tires with tommy guns.

As the Moslem spiritual leader's car came to a halt, the bandits surrounded it. They stripped the jewelry off the Begum and fled.

She had been reported ill for some time and was able to put in only a brief appearance at the wedding of her stepson, Prince Aly Khan, to the American actress.

Police noted that the bandits involved in both the Deauville and Nice holdups totalled four, wore masks and carried tommy guns. The loot, incidentally, was worth the same amount in both cases. And ironically, it is at Deauville that Rita and Aly Khan are awaiting the Aga Khan.

Police gave no immediate description of the men who robbed the Aga Khan. They blockaded all the winding roads leading from Nice along the coast—to Monte Carlo on the east and Cannes on the west—and also the narrow roads which twist northward into the mountains of the Cote d'Azur.

Only 100 miles to the west lies the port of Marseille, traditional hiding place of robbers and smugglers.

Another "Crisis" Survived

The United States, it now appears, is going to survive what was being viewed by economic alarmists as a crisis a few weeks ago. But the alarmists aren't going to give up easily.

The crisis, they now are pointing out gravely, merely has been postponed. Instead of occurring now, as they predicted, it will occur later—possibly in the fall, possibly early next year, possibly late next year—take your choice.

Crisis-mongering has become a full-time occupation in the United States. Its practitioners have the same vested interest in the national jitters as the psychiatrists. All they need to make a success of themselves is a couch for the patient to lie on while he describes his economic fears. Then they add a few of their own for good measure and everybody lives unhappily ever after.

It takes a large measure of self-discipline to realize that the United States has survived one "crisis" after another from the beginning of its history. Most of them, moreover, were the real thing, which is more than can be said about the kind of crisis expected to accompany the postwar business readjustment of the United States.

If postwar inflation was a crisis—and that's what it was called—and if the deflation which has removed the threat of inflation is crisis too—then there has come to be a perpetual crisis. In the graphs which picture what happens to economic conditions over a passage of time, there is no evidence that conditions ever remain static.

Why The Two Helpers?

Confidence in the ability of Texas Rangers and Canadian Mounties to handle all situations has been shaken by the report that three rangers patrolled Alice, Tex., after the murder of a radio commentator.

As a general rule, one Ranger would have been enough for a major threat of public disorder, and the threat of a Ranger would have spiked a minor threat. As the classical story goes, a lone Ranger once showed up to put down a riot and the local sheriff asked why he had come alone. The Ranger drawled, "there's only one riot."

This is not intended to reflect on modern rangers. Perhaps the two helpers who showed up at Alice were trainees. They may have been Mounties, down in Texas to see whether the Rangers have learned any new wrinkles about law enforcement that Canada could use in its system of maximum results with minimum manpower.

Natural Rent Control

An American municipal association survey shows that 82 cities have suspended rent control by municipal action. The federal housing expediter has lifted controls in 168 other localities. In addition, 36 other cities intend to hold decontrol hearings soon. In Texas, a state law to decontrol rent goes into effect Oct. 19. Nebraska also has passed a state decontrol law, subject to its governor's notice of intent to enforce the law, which must be done before Nov. 15. In Wisconsin, a bill replacing federal control with a state system is awaiting the governor's signature; it would end all controls by next June 1. Alabama and Nevada also have statewide decontrol laws awaiting action by their governors.

Though the great majority of urban residents still are subject to rent control, the rent-control issue is taking a new form. Natural rent control is reasserting itself as one of the consequences of the recession. This will be slow, and it may be made even slower by the recent U. S. district court decision in Chicago that the 1949 Rent Control Act is unconstitutional. But as inflation dwindles in force, the threat of runaway rents is dwindling with it. Unless the United States intends to make artificial rent control a permanent policy—and no one has proposed that—it eventually must abandon it as a temporary policy. Politics being what it is, the decision will be hard to make. There are more tenants who vote than property owners. But when tenants feel that their bargaining power has been restored by a surplus of housing, they will be willing to take their own chances of getting the space they want at a price they can afford to pay.

Repeating The Dose

It's hard for some observers to understand why anyone questions the amount of money that the United States should give in arms aid to Europe, or how it should be given. They thought that everything had been decided in substance before the North Atlantic treaty was ratified.

Senator Taft had the same impression, and he was alarmed about it. His declaration of alarm on the floor of the senate is one of the reasons why arms aid now is being studied carefully. But it's not the main reason.

Public opinion is showing the effects of a letdown after a terrific buildup for the Marshall plan. Congress is sensitive to public opinion. Many congressmen are aware of misgivings among their constituents which as yet are only murmurs of doubt. But the murmurs may grow into rumblings and shoutings.

The Marshall plan, which was supposed to bring about economic recovery in Europe, hasn't performed up to expectations. Perhaps it was the victim of press-agent puffery; it's potentialities probably were overplayed. But its actualities have not come up to the advance notices. Consequently, when it's contended by backers of the arms aid proposal that this time the United States is not expecting too much, there is skepticism. There is agreement on the general principle of providing arms aid, but a significant lack of agreement with the Truman administration on the amount of aid to be provided. The same people who were told that the Marshall plan's costs couldn't be cut below a certain amount now are being told that arms aid must come up to a certain level—and they wouldn't be acting like Americans if they didn't ask why. Moreover, they are beginning to wonder how their money is going to be spent, because they are beginning to realize that some of their reconceived ideas about the Marshall plan haven't worked out in practice.

You and Your Government

By JAMES E. WARNER

This series of articles, based on the Hoover Commission Report, shows how reorganization of the government would affect the welfare of the individual citizen.

Federal Payroll Costs Individual $116 A Year

Did you know that if you are one of the 40,000,000 Americans paying individual income taxes you are kicking in an average of $116 every March 15 to pay an army of 2,000,000 Federal civilian employees?

That's what it works out to, Uncle Sam's civilian pay roll runs $5,600,000,000 a year—and that doesn't include the Army, Navy or Marines, or building new post-offices or roads, or buying supplies or equipment for the 2,000,000 civilian jobholders.

You may argue that you don't have to pay as much as $116 a year in Federal income taxes. But you help Uncle Sam meet that pay roll every time you go to the movies, or buy a lipstick. And in virtually everything you buy, the selling price passes on to you some hidden Federal tax.

Are you, the taxpayer, getting your money's worth out of those Federal employees for your collective $5,600,000,000 a year? With due respect to the thousands of loyal and efficient Federal pay rollers, the over-all answer is "no!" The Hoover Commission listed sixteen major things wrong with the Federal Civil Service, including—as most of us personally know—a superabundance of red tape.

If you are a business man, could you operate profitably if well over one-fourth of all your employees left you every year and you had to hire new workers at a rate which would force you to have a 100 per cent turnover in your staff every three or four years?

The turnover rate in the Federal government runs about 2.9 per cent a month, which means more than 500,000 replacements a year.

Arthur S. Flemming, a Hoover Commission member, who is president of Ohio Wesleyan University, thinks $100,000,000 a year can be saved in this one area of personnel management—cutting down the turnover. He ought to know; he was a member of the United States Civil Service Commission for years.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A Reader: My year old child wakes up every night and cries. What would you suggest?

Answer: Babies cry because of illness or for various other reasons, such as being too cold, too warm, hungry, thirsty, or spoiled. The cause should first be determined; then the treatment will be apparent. If illness is present, a physician should be consulted.

Ohioan Accused Of Falsification

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Director Albert M. Day of the fish and wildlife service accused Rep. Weichel (R-Ohio) today of making misleading and inaccurate remarks about duck stamp sales and revenues.

Over Weichel's strong opposition the house passed the so-called duck stamp bill (S-1076) and sent it back to the senate for approval of minor amendments. The bill would increase the price of the duck stamp, required annually for all hunters of migratory waterfowl, from $1 to $2. Day wrote to Rep. Stockmen (R-Ore.), who had received a letter from a constituent opposing the duck stamp bill.

Day said the letter "one of the exceedingly few that has come to my attention," was based on a press dispatch quoting Weichel who, Day said, had made "inaccurate" statements.

QUESTIONS Total
For instance, Day said, duck stamp sales have never reached the total of 5,000,000 a year as Weichel said.

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, they amounted to $1,016,819; for the fiscal year June 30, 1948, $1,722,677; for the fiscal year 1949, we have figures running only through March 31 when the sales were $2,096,252."

The article quoted Weichel as saying that Day was trying to ram the duck stamp bill through congress without the official "has not shown a need for the tax increase and has not properly answered charges that the wildlife service is fundamentally incapable of producing enough

Guarding Your Health

By DR. HERMAN BUNDESON

LIKE every other part of the body, the salivary glands are subject to disease. The chief function of these glands is the formation of saliva, a secretion which empties into the mouth and is there mixed with the food we eat as the first necessary step in the digestive process.

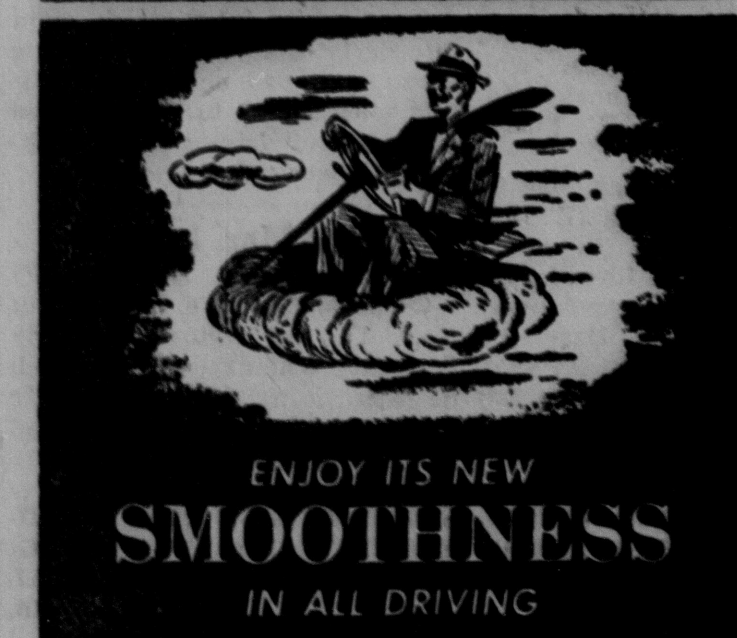

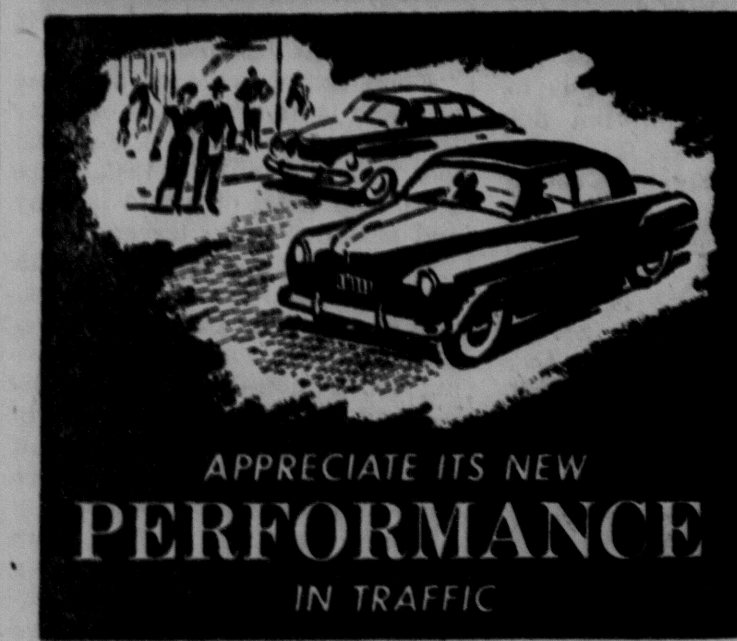

Perhaps the best known of the disorders which may affect the salivary glands is mumps. Others are stone formation, infection and tumors.

Specific Treatment
We have no specific treatment for mumps, but the disease will subside of itself if the patient is kept at rest in bed. Sometimes, however, in adolescents and adults, mumps may affect the sex gland. In these cases the temperature suddenly rises to 102 degrees or higher, there is sickness at the stomach, backache, headache, and swelling of the sex gland. Treatment involves either support of the gland by a suspensory, or the removal by a physician of the fluid which collects around this gland. This must be done to prevent the blood supply to the gland from being cut off by the swelling.

If a stone forms in the salivary glands and blocks the opening into the mouth, there may be sharp pain with swelling, at mealtime. The pain may gradually disappear, but some tenderness continues for hours or days. If the blocking continues, there is a swelling or tenderness over a long period of time. These stones usually can be seen in an X-ray plate. The stone may be eliminated by putting a narrow instrument into the duct leading from the gland to the mouth. In some cases, operation is necessary.

Acute infection of the salivary glands may be a serious condition. Such infection may follow the pulling of a tooth or tonsillitis, or operation within the chest or abdominal cavities. In treating this condition, a great deal of fluid should be given and a mouth wash used at intervals, day and night. Penicillin and the sulfonamide drugs are extremely helpful. If an abscess forms in the gland, it may have to be drained surgically. X-ray treatments are also helpful.

Bad Taste
Milder, long-continued inflammation of the salivary glands often causes a bad taste in the

MAY INTERFERE ON FARM PLAN

Issue In Next Election Might Be Confused If Bumper Crop Arrives

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—(AP)—Mother Nature may upset plans of both Democrats and Republicans to make the administration's Brannan farm plan a major issue for the midwestern farm vote in 1950 congressional elections.

This is a prediction, at least, of many farm leaders and officials returning from the midwest with glowing forecasts of a stupendous corn crop this year. Most of them are predicting the crop will be by far the largest on record if weather continues reasonably favorable.

In that event, the big political issue in powerful farm belt states next year could be the same one that—in the opinion of most political observers—contributed to President Truman's surprising victory there last year.

That issue was a shortage of grain storage.

Last year, in the weeks before the elections, corn prices dropped sharply below government price support levels. Many farmers were forced to sell grain at a sacrifice.

The Truman administration blamed the Republican 80th congress. It said prices fell under price supports because there was a shortage of storage. (Price support aid was extended only to that grain in acceptable storage). The Democrats said the Republican 80th congress took away government authority to provide emergency storage.

Truman and his secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, promised to solve the storage situation.

At any rate, many corn belt states which had been counted for Republican presidential nominee Dewey went for Truman.

But the storage issue next year could well embarrass the Democrats and help the Republicans. So far the administration has done little itself to increase storage facilities. It has asked for bids for 50,000,000 bushels capacity. But this would house a comparatively insignificant quantity of grain.

Should the corn crop turn out to be a record size 3,700,000,000 bushels, the country would have far more of this grain than ever before. Supplementing the crop will be a carryover or reserve of more than 800,000,000 bushels from last year.

Possibly half this reserve would be turned over to the government under 1948 price support operations. Unless it acts promptly, the government would have no place to put much of this grain.

Might Pull Downward

Naturally, a shortage of storage could be expected to pull corn prices below support levels again. This time, the blame would be put on the administration's doorstep. That's because congress has now given the administration authority to deal with the storage problem.

To many farmer-voters, the immediate problem of depressed corn prices would be of more importance than the pro and con arguments over a new farm plan.

Meanwhile, both the Truman administration and the Republicans are going ahead with plans to make the Brannan plan the big farm issue. The Brannan plan would use production subsidy payments as a means of supporting prices of perishables. Such payments, its sponsors claim, would keep farm income high while allowing consumers cheaper food.

Defeat of a trial run of the Brannan plan by the house recently speeded up Democratic party machinery for taking the program to the polls in 1950. That machinery was set in motion at a Democratic farm conference in Des Moines early this summer.

You Can't Win

Billions of Gamblers Keep the Bookies In Quite Comfortable Circumstances

By Ernest E. Blanche

(This is the third of seven condensed installments on Blanche's recent book on facts and fallacies about gambling. The author is Chief Statistician for the Logistics Division of the Army General Staff. As a hobby, he has studied gambling for 20 years. He's convinced—you can't win—Editor's Note.)

Ten million Americans daily bet on the thoroughbred horses which race around the country's 100-odd tracks.

It is a matter of record that about two billion dollars are annually wagered legally on horse races in 22 States, and it is common knowledge that many times that amount is bet illegally with thousands of bookmakers.

The bookmaker, or bookie, as he is more often called, operates illegally and reports nothing to the State and pays nothing to track owners and horsemen. As a result he pockets the percentage (10 to 15 per cent) they would have received if he had been part of the legal betting mechanism established by the States in which racing is permitted.

Bookies Play It Safe

The bookie gains an additional advantage by limiting the payoff prices on winning selections. Most bookies pay 20-8-and-4. This means that the bookie will not pay more than 20 to 1 if a horse wins (even if the actual odds are 100 to 1 at the track), nor more than 8 to 1 if he is second, nor more than 4 to 1 if he is third.

The bookies guarantee themselves quite a comfortable living. One bookie who has been taking other people's money for 20 years tells me he has never bet on a horse, but has always been willing to wager that the other fellow can't pick a winner.

He explains that the only possible way anyone can make a small profit is by betting on an occasional favorite to show—that is, to finish third or better. This is the system made famous by "Chicago" O'Brien.

Most bookies won't accept show bets because, they say they tend to lose money on such wagers. The payoff on a show bet on a favorite who wins is comparatively small—often only 10 per cent above the amount wagered; a $2 ticket, for example, wins only 20 cents.

My investigations have convinced me you can't even win by playing favorites to show over an extended period of time. You won't lose much, but you will lose!

It's generally overlooked that you can't beat the races legally or illegally, because your winnings—if any—are watered down considerably by all sorts of "deductions." The total deduction—for State taxes and the track operators—is never less than 10 per cent and often goes as high as 15 per cent.

The money to be returned to the winning bettors is reduced also by "breakage"—money which represents the difference between the mathematically computed payoff price and the rounded-off figure posted on the trials. This isn't possible with horse racing, since each race has a different set of conditions or factors.

There is a surprisingly large number of people who have developed what they consider perfect systems for beating the races—but I have yet to find one that is infallible.

Especially preposterous are the hundreds of betting systems sold to the gambling public through deceptive advertising.

The people who promote such systems know they are worthless. If they believed otherwise, they certainly wouldn't sell their knowledge.

Other Systems

Here are a few of the more widely touted systems:

1. Betting on the favorite to win is a system offering high percentage of winners—somewhere between 30 and 40 per cent. However, the average return on a successful favorite is less than $5 for a $2 wager. Even at a continued payoff of $5 for $2, you would have to score in 40 per cent of the races to come out ahead over a period of time.

2. Betting on the jockey rather than the horse is popular because some of the better riders win from 20 to 25 per cent of their races. But at the rate of 20 per cent winners, the payoff price would have to average $10 to let you break even. Horses ridden by the better jockeys—Eddie Arcaro, Ted Atkinson, Bobby Permane, Johnny Longden—rarely pay that much when they win.

3. Betting on horses that have won half their races is a fallacious system. There are not many such horses and when they race and win, the payoff price averages less than $4—the dividing line between winning and losing money on this system.

4. Betting on horses that have won a third of their races isn't very fruitful either, since the payoff averages less than $6—the line of demarcation between profit and loss.

5. Betting on horses that have won a third of their races and have been "in the money" in half their races doesn't get very far. An eight-week study of this system showed that several high-priced winners were included among the low-priced winners, but the final result was a loss of $108 on $2 wagers. This system is futile because the average payoff price is less than $5.

6. Betting on a horse that won the previous time it ran is a system that inevitably fails because few horses repeat their success.

Inconsistency among most horses causes a large percentage of losses.

7. Betting on the selections of certain newspaper handicappers is doomed because the latter rarely pick more than 30 per cent of the winners. It has been shown that the losses for the year on a $2 flat bet for each handicapper often go above $1000.

And now for the touting racket. Touts use varied techniques for luring the gullible—newspaper advertisements, letters, telephone calls, telegrams, etc.

Inside Information

Some contend they know that this or that race is fixed. Some say they have knowledge of a scheme to dope a particular horse to make him run faster. Some say they have "inside" information from a trainer or stable hand.

A typical tout convinces eight different people in eight different places that he knows that a certain race involving eight horses is "fixed." Contacting each player separately, he tells the first to bet on horse No. 1, the second to bet on horse No. 2, etc.

He collects in advance a fee of $10 from each player or he makes an arrangement whereby he gets 25 or 50 per cent of the winnings of a $100 wager.

Although touting is illegal, it has almost come to be accepted as a normal part of racing practice.

Some turf writers who know racing have published accurate information and some common-sense rules about horses and horse playing, but let me emphasize that no system of betting on horses will show a profit over a considerable period of time.

Attention should be given to daily-double bets (wagers on which horses will win both the first and second races). These invariably result in losses.

The highest daily double payoff was $10,772.40 for $2 at Washington Park, Chicago, on Aug. 14, 1939. However, on Nov. 12, 1948, the double at Bowie paid only $7.80 for $2. The all-time double low is believed to have been the $6.90 paid on a $2 ticket at Stamford Park on Aug. 26, 1940.

Record Payoff

The world's record payoff on a single winning horse was $409 to 1, paid by Cooley at Haddock Park, England, on Dec. 5, 1929. The wife of a Liverpool physician collected $1705 on a 50-cent wager.

The highest American price paid on a winner was at Latonia, Ky., on June 17, 1912, when Wishing Ring returned $1885.50 for $2.

Probably the shortest odds on record are 1 to 100, offered three times against Man o' War. He won all three races.

Low odds of this kind are not possible today because race tracks are required by law to return at least 5 or 10 per cent on wagers, even if the track must pay out of its own pocket.

Such an occurrence is called a "minus pool" and happens when there is heavy wagering on one horse. Citation has caused a number of minus pools in recent years.

Even so, the odds against consistent winning of wagers are enormous. You can't win if wagering is pursued as a steady diet. In fact, Elbert Hubbard once said, "The only man who makes money following the races is the one who does so with a broom and shovel."

(Tomorrow: Why you can't beat the numbers racket.)

Iron once was a rare and precious mineral.

Nylon Serves Summer Sports

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The fabric that's fast winning all-American fashion honors emerges now as champ in the field of summer sportswear. That's nylon. It makes "taffeta" shorts, slip-ons and cardigans of "jersey," styled like those shown above, which dry quickly and can by-pass the ironing board on trips from and to the tennis court, golf links or beach. Nylon taffeta shorts in black and other dark colors are smartly styled with cuffed legs. Sleeveless nylon jersey slip-ons in white and black and pastel colors have deep armholes designed for coolness and freedom of movement. 'We, The Women' by RUTH MILLETT

The first question a young woman who wants to get married ought to ask herself is: "Why am I single?"

If she needs help in figuring out the answer to that one, she may possibly find it in a new book compiled by Hilda Holland, "Why Are You Single?" In this book medical and other authorities on marriage discuss the various reasons why 29,000,000 people of marriageable age in the United States are single.

Once she has figured out why she's single, then she's ready for the last chapter of the book, "Why be single?" and its suggestions for improving her personality and her attitude toward others so that she will be attractive to the right man if he comes along.

Check Yourself by These Tips Here are some of the suggestions included in the helpful last chapter:

Become a good conversationalist.

Recognize and compliment others' good qualities.

Go out of your way to do little favors.

Hold on to old friends and make new ones of both sexes.

Dress neatly and appropriately.

Pay close attention to personal hygiene.

Get rid of any peculiar mannerisms.

Rid yourself of habits that annoy others.

Learn to dance, to play games, to enjoy sports.

Know what etiquette requires and observe it.

Develop a hobby that interests others.

Join several organizations and take part in their activities.

Inventory yourself every three months to see how you can be more attractive.

When you know something is wrong, do something about it now.

That may strike you as a formidable list at first glance. But when you start checking yourself by it, it may not be so tough since you've probably already mastered a good many of the suggestions.

Then all you've got to do is concentrate on the points where you are weak. Good luck and good hunting to the new YOU.

Columbiana Power Rates Are Increased Slightly

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 3—The board of public affairs signed a new contract with the Ohio Edison Co., Monday evening, for a 10-year period at a slight increase of rates for supplying Columbiana with electric energy.

Although the contract is for ten years, either party may cancel it after the first year on six months' notice.

A new schedule of rates is being prepared by the board, which will be mailed to all local consumers. Slight increases will be made in some brackets to meet the higher rate charged by the company, attributed to the increase in the cost of coal. The total increase for the entire community will approximate $7,000, which will be absorbed by the slight changes in rates.

This will be the first time in years that there have been any changes in rates for either electric energy or water. The municipality owns its electric distribution system, which gives it the advantage of low rates, and improvements in the water system including a water softener, additional wells and water lines have all been provided from the revenues.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Miller of 301 Union st. will observe next Saturday the 60th anniversary of their marriage. There will be a family gathering at Firestone park Friday afternoon and evening.

Stewart Wickam, song leader, and his accompanist, Bert Young of the Canton Rotary club, were guests of the Columbiana Rotary club Monday evening, and led group singing. The chief feature of the evening were reports of the activities of the Buckeye Boys State at Delaware in June by the three who were sent to represent Columbiana by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the Legion post.

They were George Fisher and Alton Witter, of Columbiana High school, and John Heintzelman, Jr., of Fairfield Centralized. Paul Reeves presided as program chairman.

The Rotary club service committee, Charles Moser, chairman, assisted at the Firestone Farm demonstration over the weekend. District Governor Hugh Dawson of East Cleveland will make his official visit to the Columbiana club next Monday.

Kiwanians Hear Report
President Clarence Koch reported to the Kiwanis club Monday evening, on the international convention in Atlantic City which he attended.

To promote an interest in tennis, the club took action some time ago to sponsor a tennis tournament at the Firestone park courts. Coach James W. Hall, who is directing recreational activities, has found difficulty in creating interest, as tennis has been somewhat neglected in Columbiana.

Ore Shipments High On Lakes

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3—(AP)—Iron ore shipments from upper lake ports are running more than 3,000,000 tons ahead of last year and close to the all-time record set in the war year of 1942, the Lake Superior Iron Ore association reported today.

The association said the shipments to Aug. 1 were 46,055,280 tons compared with 42,941,139 tons in the 1948 season to Aug. 1. The all-time record for this period—a little more than half of the ore-shipping season—was set in 1942 when 47,357,374 tons were hauled by Aug. 1.

Noteworthy, however, in the big tonnage this season is that it was carried in 266 freighters, compared with 278 operating last year and 360 in 1942.

Last week's shipments of 2,703,885 tons were 172,686 tons larger than in the similar week of 1948, the association said.

Although the season opened early this year, the heavy tonnages are due also to the fall-off in coal shipments which are well below the two previous seasons. The trip up the lakes has been made empty or light by many carriers which normally haul a full coal tonnage. This has increased the turn-around, enabling the vessels to make faster and more trips for ore and has taxed the loading facilities at the upper lakes ports.

The steel strike threat last month brought no curtailment by the big ore-hauling companies who correctly anticipated the July 16 strike deadline would be passed without production interruption.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB PICKS NAME

"The Quaker City Amateur Radio club" has been selected as the club name for a group of a dozen "ham" radio operators who have been conducting informal meetings in the Salem area.

The name was selected at a meeting at the Robert Mathews home at 970 Homewood ave. During the meeting members operated Mathews sending and receiving equipment to talk with operators in England, Scotland, Spain, Germany and Sweden. Henry Zimmerman told of his trip to the West coast and the "ham" operators he met along the way.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mathews. On Saturday, members John Theil, John Holzworth, Dr. P. H. Leimbach and Mathews traveled to Conneaut for a banquet meeting with amateur operators throughout northern Ohio. They won a two-meter receiver at the banquet.

At the State Friday and Saturday Edward G. Robinson, Susan Hayward and Richard Conte appear in the hard-hitting melodrama about life in New York's Little Italy entitled "House of Strangers".

At the Grand Friday and Saturday music and laughter are rampant in the Irish love story, "Shamrock Hill", shown with the new Red Ryder film "Roll Thunder Roll" with Jim Bannon. Also shown is the king of the rocket men serial entitled "Mystery of the Rocket Man".

The memorable production "Gone with the Wind", Margaret Mitchell's story of the old south, is on the screen at the State theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh, Olivia de Havilland, Leslie Howard and Hattie McDaniel are starred.

Must Take Steamroller to Stop Bliss, But Rest Of National Loop Hangs On

Apparently it's going to take a steamroller to stop the E. W. Bliss Cardinals in the National league, but the other three league leaders aren't giving up until the end.

That was apparent in loop play last night. For Bliss won again, 14-4, over the fourth place Electric Furnace while the second place V.F.W. swept Fishers 5-0, and the third ranked Salem China edged the Lisbon V.F.W. 8-6.

In the only American league game played, the Salem Diner picked up a half game on the leading Demings squad by besting the Saxons 13-1 and the Democrats defeated the Jaycees 9-8 in a wild game.

The Diner is fast approaching a tie with Demings, now just a half game off the pace with a 14-3 record as compared to the Pumpers 15-3.

The victory for the Democrats kept them right in the battle to be among the top four. The Trumanites are now a half game ahead of Parkers in the battle for fourth.

Wayne "Muscle" Russell, who has to hurl in tonight's All-Star game, didn't rest too much last night. He twirled a two-hitter against the Electric Furnace and never was in serious trouble. It was the 16th straight win for the Blisses.

The other All-Star hurler scheduled to start tonight, Mutt Schaeffer of the Salem Diner, worked like a charm against the Saxons. Schaeffer limited the Saxon outfield to four safeties while his mates blasted out 11 hits. Schaeffer got two bingles himself.

The leagues rest tonight as the All-Star show goes on at West End park. The first game, between the South Side Suncoons and the Salem Red Caps, women's clubs, goes at 6:30. At 7:30 the Old Timers, Joe Kelley's talented but cranky club, meets the Class B All-Stars. After that game the American and National clash.

DETROIT ON FIRE, NOW HAS OUTSIDE CHANCE IN CHASE

Tigers Currently Hotter Than Threatening Tribe Or Boston Red Sox

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Watch out, New York! Shove over, Cleveland, Boston. Make room for another claimant to the American league throne—the dashing Detroit Tigers.

A week ago, the odds manipulators had written off the pennant chances of the Tigers. A three-team race it was, they said. Today, these same odds-makers are issuing a new line with Detroit given a chance to cop, albeit a slim one.

They enhanced their chances considerably last night when they turned back the Yankees, 10-2, in the league leaders' back yard.

The victory gave the fourth place Bengals a record of 13 triumphs in their last 18 games, a much faster gain than that of the Yankees, runner-up Indians or third place Red Sox. It moved them within seven and a half games of the top.

Hal Newhouse, who had failed in six straight July attempts to notch his 11th victory, finally made it with a 10-hit performance against the Yankees.

The Tigers backed Newhouse's pitching with a 14-hit attack which blasted Allie Reynolds from the hill.

Four of the blows went for the distance. The homer hitters were Dick Wakefield, Vic Wertz, Aaron Robinson and Johnny Lipon.

The Indians whipped wearily Washington, 8-1, as Early Wynn held his former mates to nine scattered hits for his ninth victory. Bob Kennedy, Joe Gordon and Dale Mitchell paced the Indians' 15-hit assault on Mickey Harris and Al Gettel with three safeties apiece.

The Red Sox tallied once in the last half of the ninth to eke out a 4-3 win over the St. Louis Browns. Dom DiMaggio singled to open the frame, got around to third, and scored the deciding run when Vern Stephens rolled down the first base line while trying to duck a pitch by Ned Carver. The hit extended DiMaggio's consecutive hitting streak through 29 games.

The Philadelphia Athletics ended a three-game losing streak and a 27-inning scoreless drought, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5-2. They tallied in the first inning. Carl Scheib went the route for his sixth victory.

The St. Louis Cardinals retained their half game advantage over Brooklyn in the National league race, coming from behind to defeat the Boston Braves, 7-2. Red Munger pitched a five-hitter for his 10th victory.

The Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Rex Barney. Gil Hodges hit a home run and double to drive in three Dodger runs.

The Cincinnati Reds exploded with 15 hits to swamp the Philadelphia Phils, 11-3.

In the only afternoon contest, the New York Giants shut out the Chicago Cubs, 3-0, for their fifth consecutive victory. Sheldon Jones pitched a three-hitter for his ninth success.

DEPARTMENT OF CONJECTURE

Just which outfit will win tonight's softball All-Star classic is a question that remains to be seen. It certainly can't be answered here, but there are a lot of patriotic league members on both sides of the fence who'll give you the word for the asking.

But one thing again becomes rather apparent in the stars picked to play the big benefit tilt tonight. And in a way it's a clear admission from the loop managers themselves that the leagues aren't just what they should be this season.

If anyone took the time to look over the list and tally the score, it is immediately clear that the power in each loop is centered in three teams.

Consider the American league, for instance. The Salem Diner, Amvets and Demings placed 17 of the 20 men chosen. In the National league, look for yourself, the Bliss, Salem China and Salem VFW won 18 of the 20 coveted positions.

Naturally, as one reads or sees these high-scoring, one-sided games, he can't help but imagine what a splendid softball league it would be if the Amvets, Diner, Deming, Bliss, Salem China, Salem VFW and a couple of other teams were grouped together.

Oh, well. Let's watch the All-Stars tonight and dream later.

DEPT. OF INFO
This district apparently is going to have another football luminary as a resident. At least that's the word from down Lisbon way.

Dwight V. (Dike) Beede, Youngstown college athletic director and head football coach, has purchased the old Harnish property in Elk Run township near Lusk's lock on Old Sandy Beaver canal.

Beede, the reports have it, intends to develop a summer home on the 51-acre spot with the idea that it eventually will be his permanent residence.

The Beede family is already located at the new site.

ODDS AND ENDS
Oddly enough, the balance of the American league baseball schedule shows, the Washington Senators may well decide the pennant chase.

Although buried in the cellar these days, the Nats have 15 more games with the Boston Red Sox, eight at Fenway park in Boston.

The way the Nats have been floundering it would be no surprise if the Sox won 12 of the remaining 15 games.

That would be quite an aid to Boston, Eh, Lou?

Football games are coming up fast and freely. The All-Star game at Massillon is next week, then the Cleveland Browns play exhibitions at Akron on Aug. 22 against the Yankees, at Cleveland on Aug. 19 against San Francisco and again in Toledo on Sunday, Aug. 14.

Blow up that pigskin, doddie.

Praises Groza, Rymkus
BOWLING GREEN, Aug. 3—(AP)—Two offensive tackles named Lou-Rymkus and Groza—are the best in professional football, says their boss, Cleveland Browns Coach Paul Brown. The coach of the All American conference champs said Rymkus kept his man away from the passer 90 per cent of the time on pass plays last season. Groza's record for protecting the passer was 87.5 per cent, according to club statistics.

Only 16 of the 36 players on the spring roster of the Chicago White Sox are with the club.

Boudreau Says It'll Be Sept. 15, But McKechnie Claims It'll Be Sooner,

CRYING SEASON OPENED BY LEAHY AND MATTY BELL

Leahy Sure Notre Dame Won't Win 'Em All; Matty Worried

By CARL BELL

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 3—(AP)—Two gentlemen you'd think have the least reasons to squawk today opened the football coaches' wailing season.

They're Frank Leahy and Matty Bell, no less.

As head strategist of Notre Dame football, Leahy hasn't tasted defeat in three seasons. Bell, who sends Don Walker and ten other guys onto the field for Southern Methodist university, has seen his team fall only once in two years.

But things are going to be different this fall. The Fighting Irish and the Mustangs are going to lose some games.

Or, at least, so said Messrs. Leahy and Bell as they paused amid their present duties as instructors at the Hot Springs coaching clinic.

"We're going to lose some games this year," said Leahy without putting his tongue in his cheek.

"Why? Well, for one thing, we lost seven regulars from our 1948 team—Fischer, Brennan, Tripucka and so forth. You think we can fill their shoes? Well, we can't. Just because we're Notre Dame we're supposed to be five and six deep at every position. But I'm telling you we aren't this year."

"And another thing—look at our schedule. It's the toughest we have had in years. Our two new opponents, North Carolina and SMU, for instance. Boy, they're tough."

"Then, of course, everyone points for Notre Dame. The more we win the tougher that pressure gets—and we've been winning for three years."

Bell, who has borne the nickname "Moanin' Matty" for years, laid down his case:

"I'm not a moaner any more. You can't moan when you have a good team. And we'll be a good team this year; we'll give everybody plenty of trouble."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—(AP) they could not crack through Chubby Early.

With the exception of Gordon's triple, there were no extra base hits in the Tribe attack. They put the singles together in such profusion, however, that the runs flowed across the platter.

The Tribe scored three in the second on five of the base blows. Two one-basers and Gordon's long triple to left produced two more in the fifth. A walk, a sacrifice and a single got another in the sixth, and the scoring ended with two runs on three singles in the eighth.

The Tribe started east four games out of first. With a .500 record for the trip, they have gained a half game on the Yanks who are slumping even with the inimitable Joe DiMaggio.

A few weeks ago, the Tribe took game after game, but couldn't gain on the Yankees who also were winning with disheartening regularity. Now the Tribe has cooled, but so have the New Yorkers. The race tightens with Detroit and Boston also showing foot.

Johnny Berardino, who replaced the slumping Ken Keltner at third base, hit a single in three trips, scored two runs and batted in another. He also fielded two chances without a mishap.

Boudreau said the lineup would be the same for another night game tonight with Rapid Robert Feller as the probable starting pitcher.

Opposing the Iowa veteran will be young Dick Weik, who recently lost to the St. Louis Browns after hurling a two-hit shutout until the ninth.

Pitching—Sheldon Jones, Giants—Permitted only three singles as the Giants shut out the Chicago Cubs, 3-0.

"Assignment: America"

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—(INS)—Life may begin at forty but it really starts rolling in high gear at around three score and ten.

The most flagrant bit of larceny on Broadway is committed eight times weekly by a woman of some 70 summers.

The larcenous lady is Miss Ethel Griffies, who will probably never see 70 again and who made her first stage appearance when she was two and a half. She not only swipes the new musical comedy "Miss Liberty" right out from under its youthful feminine stars, Mary McCarty and Allyn McLerie, but she has compounded the felony by becoming the current toast of Broadway.

Just exactly how old is Miss Griffies, who sings and capers through "Miss Liberty," nobody knows and the lady herself ain't talkin'.

"It's not my vanity, my dear, it's just that my age is my own business," Miss Griffies said with a sly smile as we sat in the drawing room of the mid-town hotel apartment where she makes her home with her actor husband, Edward Cooper.

In "Miss Liberty," this English-born actress plays the most raffish, thoroughly disreputable old harridan that Broadway has seen in years. And plays it to the hilt.

No matter how dubious the critics may have been about other facets of the Robert Sherwood-Irving Berlin-Moss Hart musical, they agreed as one that she stole the show and is slightly wonderful.

How does it feel, I asked her, to be the belle of Broadway at well—at three score and ten.

No Future, Though

"It's very nice," she said placidly, "but at my age, there's no future in it."

Then she laughed the deep, rowdy laugh with which she fills the theater nightly and added: "At my age, you don't have much future left."

Before I went to call on Miss Griffies, I had never seen her except on the stage. I had no idea what she would be like, but I rather feared a bottle blond, with a half-Nelson on perennial youth and bleached curls.

I couldn't have been wrong. The shameless scene stealer of "Miss Liberty" has gray—almost white—hair, cut rather short and innocent of beauty-parlor kinks. The fact is, Miss Griffies looks her age, whatever that is. And is quite content to be it.

She was dressed in dowager black, in a cut that would have done credit to Queen Mary, her slim feet elegantly encased in black suede pumps with handsome steel cut buckles.

The only links between Miss Griffies and the old harridan she plays so triumphantly are a salty sense of humor, an ageless vigor and the deep, unexpected diaphragm (belly to you) laugh that wells from both.

"Miss Liberty" is the first musical she has adorned in 42 years. In that interim, she has been a featured player on Anglo-American stages and in 100 Hollywood movies.

After 17 years and 100 movies in Hollywood, Miss Griffies announced her retirement two years ago and resolutely shipped all the Griffies-Cooper goods and gear back to Liverpool.

Fortunately for Broadway, she and Mr. Cooper stopped in New York for a final look and she was immediately offered a role in John Van Druten's "The Druid Circle." Since then, offers have showered down on her, and retirement grows dimmer and dimmer.

"If 'Miss Liberty' has a good run—say two years—I might retire then," she said. "But it just runs a season, I think I'd like to do one more play."

Begin Campaign To Wipe Out Redism

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 3—(AP)—Blaming Australia's Communists for the coal strike that has crippled her industry, the Labor government has pledged to wipe out Communism in the commonwealth.

As the countrywide strike of 24,000 miners entered its sixth week, the government prepared to smash the walkout by using troops to work open pits.

Troops are standing by, ready to start digging at a signal from the federal capital at Canberra. Officers claim they can beat regular production records within a week.

Information Minister Arthur Caldwell told a labor rally yesterday. "Communism is on the way out here."

"We will use the army against them, the Navy against them, the air force against them." He said the strikes would be smashed and the government then would move to exterminate "Communist rats."

The Communist party is a tiny political force in Australia and has not seats in the federal parliament, but it is influential in trade unions. Caldwell said a police raid on Communist head-

Says Coal Firms Block Appointees

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3—(UP)—Clarence C. Fay, president of the Rail & Lake Coal Co., today charged Sen. William M. Boyd (D) of Cleveland with using legislative pressure to block his appointment to the new strip mine board of appeals.

Fay also said political influence was used by the Hanna Coal Co. and other large coal operators to kill his appointment.

Both Fay and Milton M. Ronsheim, editor of The Cadiz Republican, were refused confirmation last Friday by the Ohio senate. Fay charged that they opposed him because he voluntarily restored to agricultural usefulness the farms he had strip mined for coal.

A statement issued by Ronsheim said, "Senator Boyd long has been recognized as the spokesman for the major coal operators. He has gone far out of his way to do their bidding."

Both Fay and Ronsheim agreed that "with some of the larger operators pulling the strings, he and Sen. Arthur Blake of Martin's Ferry led the attack in the senate."

Sen. Boyd said today that his opposition to Ronsheim was personal. He added that Jim Hyslop, executive vice president of the Hanna Coal Co., had told him he was "disturbed" about Fay's appointment.

"Governor Lausche should have consulted the operators," said Boyd "and not jeopardized the success of the law by not giving them genuine representation."
